The image displays a 4x3 grid of 12 cards, each representing a different layout for a section titled "OFFERS". Each card features a header "OFFERS" in a small, dark font. The content of each card is represented by horizontal bars of various colors and lengths, indicating the placement and relative size of text and images. The colors used are black, grey, red, and white. The layouts vary in the number and arrangement of these bars, showing different ways to organize information on a page. For example, some cards have a single long black bar at the top, while others have multiple shorter bars of different colors stacked vertically. The grid is set against a light beige background.
